

Hi Boys and Girls (and Moms and Dads),

I wrote this A to Z Rhyme with Me book because I love words, rhymes, art and silly poems. Sometimes words can be read to feel like music with rhythm. You will both laugh and learn reading this book. Memorize your favorite poems. Play with your voice's expression. If you love an audience, post your reading on FB Plumdigitty. Come on and Rhyme with Me!

Love,
Penelope Sugarplum

Johnny Appleseed

Johnny Appleseed long ago planted seeds in Ohio.
Apple seeds he spread around in Pennsylvania's little towns.
Then he went to Illinois.
Planting seeds gave Johnny joy.
The seeds grew into apple trees.
Let's thank Johnny, if you please.
Because he loved to plant and grow,
the apple trees have spread, you know from North to South and East to West-Apples are the very best!

Do It!

Do you or don't you?
Will you or won't you?
If I ask you, do it now!
Not tomorrow
Not yesterday
Not in five minutes
Not soon
Not later
Not sometime
Now!
Do it, do it, do it now
You did it, you did it
I'm happy now!

Now!

Finger Foods

The sign said "finger foods"
so I looked at all the plates
There were thumbs and pinkies of all colors
The pointers counted eight
"Pass the pepper," said the man as he found a thumb to suck
"I'll take that ring finger over there,"
said the lady counting her luck
Finally, the alarm went off
I awoke from this funny dream
No finger food for me, I thought
I'd rather eat ice cream

Jack the Cat

If you have a kitty cat
I wonder if he looks like that. ↑ Spots and dots upon his fur
A sound ferocious when he grrrrs

If you have a cat named Jack and Jack the cat's a jaguar
You may be lunch one day for him-
Get busy and write your memoir
